

Estate Litigation

Sills Cummis & Gross takes a unique and successful approach to complex estate litigation: pairing our top trusts and estate attorneys with our best and most experienced commercial litigators. This provides our clients with the expertise necessary to understand the complexities of estate plans with the litigation skills necessary to defend or upend wills and trusts. From the outset, Sills Cummis & Gross is able to work with the client to uncover the key issues in the wills and trusts that are part of the estate plan and develop a litigation strategy to address those issues in an aggressive and effective manner.

Sills Cummis & Gross has been involved in estate litigation in both New Jersey and New York, including recent matters before the New Jersey Appellate Division and at the trial level involving hundreds of millions of dollars at issue.
