

Real Estate

The Sills Cummis & Gross Real Estate Department is an interdisciplinary team of approximately 35 attorneys providing a full range of legal and related services to participants in all areas of the real estate industry. The Real Estate Department encompasses expertise in many disciplines such that clients' needs are serviced by attorneys and paralegals with the specialty they require. Different groups within the Department focus on investment, vertical and horizontal acquisition and disposition; condominiumizations; retail, office, industrial and warehouse leasing; and mixed- and single-use development/redevelopment and construction. Also embraced as additional expertise by the Department are the areas of government relations; zoning and land use; and conventional and capital markets financing (including securitized and mezzanine financings). Because of the breadth of the Department, our attorneys have been able to provide "value added" beyond their legal expertise. Our attorneys are active members of several nationally recognized trade groups enabling them to understand the business side of the industry.
